About me

Seasoned Software Engineer with a rich tapestry of 20 years of experience in software development.

Proficient in various operating systems, including macOS, Linux, and Windows, my career has been defined by a passion for creating applications and system integrations using a multitude of technologies.

Throughout my journey, I've demonstrated mastery in technologies such as Python, Node, React, PHP, Ruby, Ruby on Rails, Perl, TCL, Java, Spring Boot, Kotlin, Swift, Bash, C++, and more. My commitment to staying at the forefront of technological advancements led me to delve into the intricacies of the financial market in 2020, where I applied my skills to create sophisticated bots using MQL, Python, and the Profit Chart native language.

In 2021, I expanded my expertise to encompass the development of secure and decentralized applications (dApps), immersing myself in technologies like React, Next, TypeScript, and Ethereum's Solidity for smart contracts.

In 2022, I served as a Tech Lead and Full Stack Engineer at Hero99, where my expertise in NestJS, NextJS, Python, Quarkus, and Kotlin played a central role. In this position, I not only led and inspired a development team, but also actively integrated cutting-edge security practices into our software development lifecycle. My responsibilities emphasized creating a secure coding environment, ensuring the robustness of applications against potential threats, and promoting an atmosphere of continuous learning and improvement in security and development practices.

In 2024, I held the position of Full Stack Engineer and DevSecOps at Yssy, where I was responsible for developing secure applications and strengthening the bridges between development, operations, and security. My role was crucial in incorporating security practices from the initial phases of software development through to production, ensuring the ongoing security of our applications.

Currently, I am a Partner / Full Stack Engineer and DevSecOps at a confidential company, where I lead and am responsible for the development of scalable and secure applications using Angular 18, Spring Boot 3, and Ruby on Rails 8. Additionally, I am responsible for architecture, deployment automation, implementing secure CI/CD pipelines, and mitigating vulnerabilities. I also define and apply security best practices throughout the software development lifecycle, ensuring continuous protection for our applications and cloud infrastructure. I am eager to apply my experience. My goal is to contribute to innovative projects that prioritize secure, cutting-edge technological solutions.
